

We aim to develop cultural capital in our children by providing a range of experiences and opportunities to learn about art and design, such as trips to galleries and museums, visiting artists and designers, and exploring different art forms and techniques.

Developing cultural capital in art and design is important for providing children with the skills and experiences they need to become informed, creative and culturally aware individuals.

Throughout the year, the children's drawing skills build on prior knowledge and existing skills. Teachers support the development of sustainable skills that grow as they progress through St. Breock.

Teachers make art engaging and consistently promote St Breock's Toolkit for Learning, Love and Laughter throughout lessons.

Lunch time and after school art clubs held throughout the year.

We include local Cornish artists and culture in our lessons, helping children feel proud of where they live. They learn about local festivals, places and artists, which helps them feel more connected to their local community.

Art

Cultural Capital at St Breock

Our school newsletter regularly showcases artistic achievements, celebrating the talents and efforts of our young artists.

The School's link with art leads within Aspire Hub keep the school up to date with current and best practice.

The children's artwork is proudly shared through displays, exhibitions and parent engagement afternoons recognising every child's creative journey.

Visits from local art career professionals.

Creating cards and art to show our thanks and appreciation to members of our local community.

Art themed parent and child (F4) workshops after school on a Friday.

Engaging in local art projects e.g. working with the Wadebridge commemorative Standing Stone Committee to produce art work for the beginning of the Camel Trail.

